Jerry:

Although I am a bit more cynical than most, judging by your attached evaluations, the majority of our students at the 2009 Florida School of Banking certainly enjoyed and benefited from your presentation.

As promised I am forwarding this reply to my colleagues across the nation to recommend that they look into using you for one of their own events in the future. They will certainly be entertained as well as receive information that may be useful to them as it was to many of our students this month. Thanks for your help in making my school a success this year.
